God of everyone, not only those who think like me
King (Source) of every truth, not only those that I believe Alpha and Omega, and every letter in between
The space between the stars could not contain Your glory

Come, break the cages we have tried to place You in
You are more... You are more
So much greater than these words we draped You with
You are more... You are more than this
You are more... You have always been

God of everyone, of all the earth, not only me
King (Source) of every truth, not only those I choose to speak
Alpha and Omega, no letters serve to spell Your name
As distant as the stars and closer than the words I pray

Chorus

Bridge: Every knee will bow
And every tongue will speak of love
Every knee will bow
And every tongue will speak of love
We will meet Your eyes
And every voice will speak Your name
We will see Your face
And all our words will fall away

Chorus

The space between the stars could not contain Your glory
