Surrounded By Love

Words and Music by Mark Miller

Copyright 2016 Mark A. Miller

When you come to the desert alone
And your strength is almost gone
And the fear overshadows the dawn
You are still surrounded by love

When your world seems to fall apart
All that's left is a broken heart
And you're not even sure where to start
You are still surrounded by love
We will still surround you with love.

Still, still, we will still surround you with love.

Still, still, we will still surround you with love.

Love is all around you, we will still surround you with love.
